named by the international bulletin of missionary studies as an outstanding book of 2014 for mission studies despite the ongoing global expansion of christianity there remains a lack of comprehensive scholarship on its development in asia this volume fills the gap by exploring the world of asian christianity and its manifold expressions including worship theology spirituality inter religious relations interventions in society and mission the contributors from over twenty countries deconstruct many of the widespread misconceptions and interpretations of christianity in asia they analyze how the growth of christian beliefs throughout the continent is linked with the socio political and cultural processes of colonization decolonization modernization democratization identity construction of social groups and various social movements with a particular focus on inter religious encounters and emerging theological and spiritual paradigms the volume provides alternative frames for understanding the phenomenon of conversion and studies how the scriptures of other religious traditions are used in the practice of christianity within asia

who do you say that i am this question that jesus asked of his disciples so central to his mission became equally central to the fledgling church how would it respond to the gnostics who answered by saying jesus was less than fully human how would it respond to the arians who contended he was less than fully god it was these challenges that ultimately provoked the council of nicaea in a d 325 in this volume covering the first half of the article in the nicene creed on god the son john anthony mcguckin shows how it countered these two errant poles by equally stressing jesus authentic humanity that is his fleshliness and real embodiment in space and time and his spiritual glory or full divinity one cottage industry among some historical theologians he notes has been to live in a fever of conspiracy theory where orthodox oppressors dealt heavy handedly with poor heretics or the picture is painted of ancient grassroots inclusivists being suppressed by establishment elites the reality was far from such romantic notions it was in fact the reverse the church who denounced these errors did so in the name of a greater inclusivity based on common sense and common education the debate was conducted generations before christian bishops could ever call on the assistance of secular power to enforce their views establishing the creeds was not a reactionary movement of censorship but rather one concerned with the deepest aspects of quality control ultimately what was and is at stake is not fussy dogmatism but the central gospel message of god s stooping down in mercy to enter the life of his creatures and share their sorrows with them he has lifted up the weak and the broken to himself and he healed their pain by abolishing their alienation

the malankara mar thoma syrian church exists as a hybrid church by blending the eastern liturgical elements of the oriental orthodox church and the evangelical ideas of the protestant reformation of the sixteenth century this church is a bridging church connecting protestantism and oriental orthodoxy the reformation in the malankara church 1836 instigated a new impetus for this church in constructing an ecclesial identity and pattern of mission a major missiological imperative employed by cms missionaries in india was solely centered on the scripture against this popular understanding the mar thoma church through its reformation process showed that liturgy can also be an imperative for mission the translation and revision of the eucharistic liturgy is the basic visible expression of reformation in the malankara church hence this book explicitly places how the eucharistic liturgy of the mar thoma church is observed as the foundation for mission in its course of growth in order to accomplish this objective the writer has examined the historical evolution and the developmental process of the eucharistic liturgy of the church which is a revised version of the liturgy of st james in a nutshell this study is an appraisal of various missiological themes reflected in the eucharistic liturgy of the church this study throws ample light on how the mar thoma church integrated liturgy and evangelism in its course of development the writer systematically illustrates how the church made a serious effort to bring missional themes employed in the liturgy into the practical realm by its ancillary organizations convention gatherings and sociocharitable works this volume asserts that an emphasis on eucharist centred ecclesiology guides and motivates the church to enliven a mission oriented life which is crucial for accomplishing a relevant mission

one of the most exciting recent developments in theology has been an unprecedented interest in the person and work of the holy spirit in fact veli matti karkkainen describes this phenomenon as a pneumatological renaissance but such discussion should be informed he contends by two overarching principles first we must acknowledge the variety of approaches to the experience of the holy spirit ecumenically no church can claim a monopoly on the spirit and no tradition is specifically spirited second talk about the spirit must always be contextual and therefore culture specific the spirit of god indwells believers and creation in specific and tangible ways working from this perspective the book introduces readers to pneumatology the theology and spirituality of the holy spirit in current international theology as such the work offers a biblical historical and theological assessment of the third person of the trinity however unlike most textbooks on pneumatology karkkainen takes a fresh innovative approach rather than focusing on any single topic his aim is to chart the various territories of contemporary writings and reflections on pneumatology consequently the volume examines various theological and denominational understandings of the spirit all major christian traditions are reviewed assesses key contemporary theologians of the spirit e g pannenbergt moltmann and pinnock and inquires into several contextual approaches e g liberation feminist and green these distinctives and the emphasis on the contemporary global scene make this a unique volume an up to date survey of the most noteworthy and theologically pregnant orientations to the spirit in the worldwide ecumenical and intercultural scene this work will guide readers in discerning the holy spirit s activity at the beginning of the third millennium discusses ecumenical international and contextual pneumatologies ecumenical emphasis ranges from eastern orthodox to pentecostal charismatic international scope gives voice to african and latin american perspectives covers major pneumatologies provides a comprehensive bibliography the book examines the destruction of the architectural heritage in mosul perpetrated by islamic state between 2014 and 2017 it identifies which structures were attacked the ideological rationale behind the destruction and the significance of the lost monuments in the context of mosul s urban development and the architectural history of the middle east this methodologically innovative work fills an important gap in the study of both current radical movements and the medieval islamic architecture of northern iraq as an ancient christian community the mar thoma church with its vibrant life of mission and sacraments has a pride of place in the christendom the evangelization process and constant migration made this church a global church which has encountered multi cultural and multi ethnic atmosphere and assimilated various cultural practices and faced faith confrontation in its own geographical regions this confrontation has caused a renewed view of nature identity and mission of the church in a positive manner mission is in fact the lifeblood of the church through its mission work and revised liturgy the mar thoma church took a pioneer role in the formation and nurturing of new christian communities in india and different parts of the world hence this book reflects on the role of liturgy and its influence on the missionary undertakings of the mtc it elucidates how the revised liturgy functions as a basis for mission and recounts how liturgy and mission are connected further the diverse mission centres of the church and its cultural specialties an integration of liturgy and evangelism importance of liturgical orientation and training are also dealt with in detail added to this the various challenges of the church in its mission fields and diaspora regions are studied in the framework of the liturgy the scope of liturgical renewal is looked into where the liturgical adaptation and possibilities of contextual liturgies in the church are studied this study concludes with some of the pertinent liturgical proposals for the furtherance to sustain the life and mission of the church with a living experience and profound theological understanding this ancient but reformed church has something unique to offer to the whole christendom

this thoroughgoing study examines the doctrine of transubstantiation from historical theological and ecumenical vantage points brett salkeld explores eucharistic presence in the theologies of aquinas luther and calvin showing that christians might have more in common on this topic than they have typically been led to believe as salkeld corrects false understandings of the theology of transubstantiation he shows that luther and calvin were much closer to the medieval catholic tradition than is often acknowledged the book includes a foreword by michael root

this book exposes the profound impact american evangelicalism is having on the religious lives of contemporary christian immigrants and the pressures immigrant churches face to incorporate evangelical worship styles often at the expense of maintaining their ethnic character and support systems most interestingly it shows that the integration patterns of post 1965 christian immigrants and their descendants have essentially reversed earlier models while immigrants from europe and their children were expected to shed their ethnic identities to become americans in the sphere of religion they could maintain their ethnic traditions within american denominations this book shows that members of the contemporary second generation are incorporating into u s society by maintaining their ethnic identities in secular contexts but are adopting a de ethnicized religious identity and practice in particular many are gravitating toward evangelical megachurches drawing on multi site research in the u s and india this book also provides a global perspective on religion demonstrating the variety of ways in which transnational processes affect religious organizations and their members and how forces of globalization from the period of colonialism to contemporary out migration have brought tremendous changes among christian communities in the global south book jacket

this book explores the epiclesis or invocation of the holy spirit in the eucharistic prayer using the anglican tradition as an historical model of a communion of churches in conscious theological and liturgical dialogue with christian antiquity incorporating major studies of england north america and the indian sub continent the author includes an exposition of inter church ecumenical dialogue and the historic divisions between western and eastern eucharistic traditions and twentieth century ecumenical endeavour this unique study of the relationship between theology and liturgical text commends a theology and spirituality which celebrates the presence of the holy spirit in the eucharist as present and eschatological gift it thus sets historic contemporary and ecumenical divisions in a new theological context anglicanism can be seen as irredeemably english in this book kevin ward questions that assumption he explores the character of the african asian oceanic caribbean and latin american churches which are now a majority in the world wide communion and shows how they are decisively shaping what it means to be anglican while emphasising the importance of colonialism and neo colonialism for explaining the globalisation of anglicanism ward does not focus predominantly on the churches of britain and n america nor does he privilege the idea of anglicanism as an expansion of english christianity at a time when anglicanism faces the danger of dissolution ward explores the historically deep roots of non western forms of anglicanism and the importance of the diversity and flexibility which has so far enabled anglicanism to develop cohesive yet multiform identities around the world

Decoding the Conversion: 142cm to Feet – A Comprehensive Guide

Understanding unit conversions is fundamental in various fields, from everyday life to specialized professions like engineering and construction. This article focuses specifically on converting 142 centimeters (cm) to feet (ft), a common conversion needed when working with measurements from different systems. We'll explore the conversion process, delve into the reasoning behind it, and provide practical examples to solidify your understanding.

Understanding the Metric and Imperial Systems

Before diving into the conversion, it's crucial to understand the two systems involved: the metric system and the imperial system. The metric system, based on powers of 10, is widely used globally and employs units like centimeters (cm) and meters (m). The imperial system, prevalent in the United States and a few other countries, uses units like inches (in), feet (ft), and yards (yd). The difference in their bases makes direct comparison impossible without conversion.

The Conversion Factor: From Centimeters to Inches

The cornerstone of converting 142cm to feet lies in understanding the relationship between centimeters and inches. One inch is equivalent to 2.54 centimeters. This conversion factor is crucial for bridging the gap between the metric and imperial systems. Therefore, to convert centimeters to inches, we divide the centimeter value by 2.54. Let's apply this to our example: $142 \text{ cm} / 2.54 \text{ cm/in} = 55.9055 \text{ in}$ (approximately)

From Inches to Feet: The Final Step

Now that we have the equivalent value in inches, we can convert this to feet. There are 12 inches in one foot. To convert inches to feet, we simply divide the inch value by 12. Using the approximate inch value we calculated earlier: $55.9055 \text{ in} / 12 \text{ in/ft} = 4.6588 \text{ ft}$ (approximately)

Rounding and Precision

In practical applications, we often need to round our final answer to a reasonable level of precision. The level of precision depends on the context. For instance, measuring a piece of furniture might require rounding to the nearest tenth of a foot (4.7 ft), while a more precise engineering application might necessitate retaining more decimal places. In our example, rounding to two decimal places gives us 4.66 feet.

Practical Examples

Let's consider some real-world scenarios where this conversion is useful: Buying Curtains: You've measured a window as 142cm wide and need to buy curtains in feet. Knowing that the width is approximately 4.66 feet helps you select appropriately sized curtains. Construction: A blueprint specifies a wall length of 142cm, and you need to order lumber in feet. The conversion ensures you buy the correct amount of material. International Shipping: If you're shipping a package with dimensions in centimeters, you need to convert them to feet to comply with international shipping regulations that may require dimensions in feet.

Concluding Remarks

Converting 142cm to feet involves a two-step process: first converting centimeters to inches using the conversion factor of 2.54 cm/in, and then converting inches to feet using the conversion factor of 12 in/ft. Understanding these fundamental conversions is vital for seamless transitions between metric and imperial systems, facilitating accurate measurements and calculations across diverse applications. Remember to consider the appropriate level of precision based on your specific needs when rounding your final answer.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

1. Can I perform this conversion using an online calculator? Yes, many online calculators can perform this conversion instantly. Simply search for "cm to feet converter." 2. Is the conversion factor 2.54 cm/in exact? Yes, it's an exact defined value. 3. What if I need to convert a larger number of centimeters to feet? The process remains the same; simply divide the centimeter value by 2.54 and then by 12. 4. How do I convert feet back to centimeters? Reverse the process: multiply the feet value by 12 to get inches and then multiply by 2.54 to get centimeters. 5. Is there a single formula to directly convert centimeters to feet? Yes, you can combine the two steps into a single formula: Feet = Centimeters / (2.54 12) or Feet = Centimeters / 30.48
